

----- Original Message -----

Subject: RE: AEA Inventory Checklist

From: Brad Reeve <b_reeve@kea.coop>

To: Ben Hopkins <Ben.Hopkins@MarshCreekLLC.com>

CC:

Ben,

Looking over your form it does not really apply to a utility our size. My assumption is that this is being used to justify a circuit rider program for much smaller utilities.

Brad Reeve

-----Original Message-----

From: Ben Hopkins [<mailto:Ben.Hopkins@MarshCreekLLC.com>]

Sent: Tuesday, September 18, 2012 9:59 AM

To: b_reeve@kea.coop

Subject: AEA Inventory Checklist

Brad,

Per our conversation yesterday I have attached the AEA document. It is a bit redundant in places, and (obviously) parts will not apply to your facilities. I really appreciate your time with this, my goal is to use as little of it as possible.

I am in Kotzebue until Saturday, if there is a time I can get the in plant information this week that would be great.

Thank you,
Ben Hopkins
Marsh Creek, LLC
907-830-8132
via mobile